A short, useful guide to preparing your business details, checking the right activity, and avoiding common mistakes before registration.

For businesses that prefer private filing assistance, visit Instant Udyam.

What to check before you start

Udyam Registration is meant to reflect the real details of the enterprise. Before starting, compare the information you plan to enter with your current business records.

Business identity

- Keep Aadhaar, PAN and applicable GST information consistent.
- Use the correct enterprise or trade name.
- Keep your current mobile number and email available.

Business activity

- Describe what the business actually does.
- Choose a NIC activity that matches the real work.
- Do not select unrelated activities just for possible benefits.

Quick registration checklist

✓ Check spelling of the enterprise and owner details.

✓ Confirm the business address and contact information.

✓ Review the NIC code before submission.

✓ Keep bank information ready if needed for your filing process.

✓ Save the final registration number and certificate safely after completion.

Important
The official Government of India Udyam portal provides self-registration. Private assistance is optional. Instant Udyam is not affiliated with the Government of India.

When to update an existing Udyam certificate

Business details can change after registration. If the certificate no longer reflects the current enterprise information, review the official update route and change only the fields that genuinely need correction.

Detail	What to review
Business address	Use the current enterprise address that should appear in the record.
Mobile / email	Use contact details you can access for verification and future communication.
NIC / business activity	Update the activity only when the business actually starts or changes that work.
Bank / IFSC	Check account number and IFSC carefully before requesting a change.
Turnover / investment	Use current, supportable figures and verify applicable official requirements.

A simple update process

1. Identify the change
Write down the exact field that needs correction.

2. Prepare the current details
Keep the latest business information and verification access ready.

3. Review the updated certificate
Check the new PDF carefully and save it securely.
